

Kelly's Trade Directory

Biggleswade - 1898

I have transcribed the directory exactly as written, complete with abbreviations and punctuation that seem rather peculiar to us now.

BIGGLESWADE is a market and union town, head of a petty sessional division and county court district, with a station on the Great Northern railway, 45 miles from London by the high road and 41 by rail 10½ south-east from Bedford and 11 north from Hitchin, in the Northern division of the county, hundred and rural deanery of Biggleswade, archdeaconry of Bedford and diocese of Ely, bordered on the west by the river Ivel, formerly navigable from its junction with the Ouse at Tempsford, about 4 miles distant, but in pursuance of the "Ivel Navigation Act" of 1876, the locks have been allowed to fall into disuse.

The town was formerly governed by a Local Board, created by an Order of the Bedfordshire County Council, February, 22, 1892 but under the previous of the "Local Government Act, 1894" (56 & 57 Vict. ch. 73), it is now under control of an Urban District Council of 12 members; it is well lighted with gas supplied by a company, and water is obtained from springs in the neighbourhood. The church of St Andrew is an edifice of sandstone, in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave of four bays, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower, rebuilt in 1720, and containing a clock and 5 bells : the chancel. rebuilt in 1467, by John Ruding, retains its piscina and sedilia for three priests, but the former has no basin and is now used as a credence table; a beautiful alter-piece, representing the "Last Supper", was presented by Charles Barnett esq. in 1865 : reredos was added was added in 1877 : there are several brasses, one of which, to John Ruding, a former archdeacon of Bedford, has unfortunately been much mutilated, and the representation of an angel conversing with Death has disappeared : the lofty south porch, now much dilapidated has interlaced stone vaulting and a parvise above, formerly used as a school and reached from the exterior by a spiral stone stair : the outer doorway has an ogival arch surmounted by a carved representation of the "Crucifixion" : in the church is a marble memorial to Thomas Bromsall, d. 1706, and there are mural tablets to Harriet, daughter of Admiral Sir Richard King and wife of Brigadier-General Charles Barnet, and to Thos. McGrath F.R.C.P. Edin. and his wife : the stained east window was erected in 1877 to Charles Barnett esq. of Stratton Park, and there are other memorial windows to Robert Lindsell esq. ad Frances, his wife, to Mrs Lindsell, of Fairfield, C. Fitzroy Barnett esq. of Stratton Park, and to Geo. J. Barnett, d 1892 : the chancel has been enlarged by the Rev. Henry Thellusson Wood M.A. vicar here, 188-9; the fine reredos of Venetian mosaic was designed by Mr Withers, architect of London : in 1892 a new organ was added at a cost of £680, raised by public subscription : the church was restored in 1832 and more completely in 1871, ad now affords sittings for 800 persons. The register dates from the year 1670. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £230, in the gift of the Bishop of Ely, and held since 1890 by the Rev. William Pollock Henderson M.A. of Keble College, Oxford, and chaplain to the Biggleswade union. The church of St John the Baptist, at the north end of the town, built in 1883, at a cost of £2,985, exclusive of the site, is an edifice of brick in the Lancet style, from the designs of Sir A. W. Blomfield M.A., A.R.A., F.S.A. consisting of chancel, nave, south aisle, north porch and a central turret containing 3 bells : the stained east window is a memorial to Sir Charles Talbot K.C.B. and Lady Talbot, and was erected in 1883 by the members of the family : there is a piscina (used as a credence table) and sedilia for two priests : the church affords 400 sittings. There are Strict Baptist, Baptist, Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels and a meeting place for the Salvation Army. The cemetery, at some distance from the town, covers an area of 2 acres, and was laid out and enclosed at a cost of £1,500 : there are two mortuary chapels, connected by an arch with spire upwards of 90 feet in height; the cemetery is under the control of a burial board of 9 members. The Town Hall, a substantial building in the Roman-Doric style, was erected in 1814, at a cost of £800, from plans by Mr J.T. Wing of Bedford, architect : it was enlarged and improved in 1888 at a cost of £900 and is used for the petty sessions and county courts, and serves also for balls, concerts and other public entertainments. The market is held on Wednesday for corn and pigs. There are fairs on February 14th, Saturday in Easter week, Whit Monday, September 27th, and November the 8th for horses and live stock, but the plait industry is now almost extinct. The Isolation hospital, in Potton road, was built in 1878 at a cost of £2,500, raised by a loan ; it is under the control of the Board of Guardians and has beds for 30 patients. Sir John Cotton, in 1752, bequeathed £1,800 for charitable uses, which he directed to be laid out in the purchase of land subsequently acquired at Flitwick, near Ampthill ; one-ninth of the rental is appropriated to the vicar of Biggleswade, two-ninths to the vicar of St. Neots, two-ninths to the vicar of Connington, two-ninths to the Biggleswade school-master, and two-ninths to a schoolmaster at Holme, Huntingdonshire. Seven other charities, producing £35, are yearly distributed. Francis Lovell esq. is lord of the manor. The principal landowners are Mrs. Barnett, of Stratton Park, Charles Samuel Lindsell esq. J.P. of Holme, Henry Martin Lindsell esq. J.P. of Holme, Henry Martin Lindsell esq. J.P. of Shortmead, the trustees of Robert H. Lindsell esq. (d. 1891), Charles Willes Wilshere esq. of the Frythe, Welwyn, the Dean and Chapter of Westminster, Mrs. Mary Poole Foster and the Rev. Albert John Foster M.A. vicar of Wootton, Rev. Sir Geo. Hy. Cornwall bart. of Moccas Court, Hereford, and the Rev. Francis Hanbury Annesley M.A. vicar of Gayton, Staffs. The country is picturesque in parts, but its general character is flat and uninteresting : the soil is fertile and very productive, being celebrated for the extensive growth of crops for pickling purposes, cucumbers, onions and other market-garden produce. The parish contains 4,629 acres of land and of 18 water : rateable value £31, 303 ; the population in 1891 was 4,943, including 7 officers and 149 inmates in the workhouse

STRATTON is a scattered hamlet belonging to Biggleswade, a mile and a half south-east. Stratton Park is the seat of Mrs. Barnett : the mansion is a large brick edifice, surrounded by a park of 160 acres, beautifully wooded with fine elm trees.

HOLME with Holme Green is also a small hamlet, one mile south from Biggleswade, to which parish it belongs. Here is the residence of Charles Samuel Lindsell esq. D.L. J.P.

Parish Clerk, William Alexander Medlock, Fairfield Lane.
